

Chief, Army Communications Service Division
Office of the Chief Signal Officer
Department of the Army
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Sir:

Reference Department of Army letter dated 12 July 1955, from Chief, Army Communications Service Division to the Director of Communications, Central Intelligence Agency, relative to the transfer and supply of microwave equipment from this Agency to the Chief, Army Signal Officer in support of the Inter-Agency Microwave Network.

The Central Intelligence Agency concurs in the transfer of accountability on a non-reimbursable basis to the United States Army Signal Corps of its equipment located at [REDACTED] [REDACTED] subject to the agreement of the organization designated as having jurisdiction over the Central Control Center to fulfill the requirements of the Central Intelligence Agency as outlined in the attached "Memorandum of Agreement". With respect to the assumption of operational control of the Inter-Agency Microwave Network by the Signal Corps, we desire to emphasize that this Agency has invested approximately one hundred and ten thousand dollars ($110,000) in the above installations, and that our requirement for "point to point" communications, which originally necessitated the installation of this equipment at these stations, still remains valid. As agreed in previous conference, and under the present concept of a "Common user" system, Central Intelligence Agency will look to the Central Control at [REDACTED] for satisfactory routing to final termination of these "point to point" requirements.

The Central Intelligence Agency is further agreeable to furnishing the Signal Corps such necessary additional equipment that is available in our supply stock. We do not desire replacement in kind through procurement by the Signal Corps. It is requested that standard Form 10-0 procedures be utilized for reimbursement for items furnished. Representatives of this Office are available to assist you in the preparation of lists of additional equipment requirements together with applicable costs.

If the Office of Defense Mobilization and the Secretary of Defense concur in the above proposals, and they are acceptable to your department, please return to us a signed copy of the attached "Memorandum of Agreement" and advise us of the name of the Accountable Officer and the organizational component to whom the material will be transferred. Upon receipt of this information, we will initiate action to complete the final details.
